The dangers of Facebook

Nowadays more and more people get sucked in by the increasingly popular world of cyber friendships, social networks and dating sites.

The purpose of this essay is to warn people about the dangers of facebook. Most of these dangers are in connection with computer viruses but some are even more serious. People can be the victims of identity theft, harassment or even rape.

If people used facebook (or any other social network) knowing about these dangers and would be aware of these problems, maybe there would be less crimes committed through them.
